

If You Need Help: Resources for Support In your Candler and College Courses

For Candler Students:

For any student related concern or emergency, please contact The Rev. Ellen Echols Purdum, Assistant Dean of Student Life and Spiritual Formation, in the Office of Student Programming (Suite 311) at ellen.echols.purdum@emory.edu or 404-727-4430.

For concerns regarding academic support, international student support or student international exchanges, please contact Audrey Hindes, Program Associate for Academic and International Support, in the Office of Student Programming (Suite 311) at ahindes@emory.edu or 404-727-6987.

For writing and academic skills instruction please contact Ryan Kuratko, Writing and Academic Skills Instructor, in the Writing Center located in the Office of Student Programming (Suite 311) or at ryan.kuratko@emory.edu. Sign-up times for the Writing Center are posted weekly in the Office of Student Programming.

International students in need of academic support can sign up for tutoring in the Office of Student Programming (Suite 311). Available sign-up times are posted weekly.

If a student is experiencing a life threatening emergency, please call 911 and inform The Rev. Ellen Echols Purdum, Assistant Dean of Student Life and Spiritual Formation, immediately.

For Emory College Students:

For any student related concern or emergency related to academic performance issues, contact Jason Breyan, Ph.D. with the Office for Undergraduate Education: jbreyan@emory.edu or Charrie Collins with the PACE Program (student advising): ckcolli@emory.edu. The Office for Undergraduate Education works closely with Campus Life; so, even if you suspect life in the residence hall or off campus is negatively contributing to the student's academic performance, you can contact Dr. Breyan and his office (see more information below).

Academic Advising and Support Programs are available in the Office for Undergraduate Education (OUE). Academic advisers work closely with students, faculty and academic deans to provide group and individual academic advising, and to explain and interpret academic policy. Advisers have offices located in White Hall, Few Hall, the SAAC and the Woodruff Residential Center. Please call 404.727.6069 for more information or to schedule an advising appointment. You may also go to the front desk of White Hall 300 to schedule an appointment.

If your situation requires immediate attention, please call 404.727.6069 and email academic.advising@learnlink.emory.edu.

If the student you are concerned about lives in a Residence Hall and if the student's problems are strongly related to campus life issues rather than academic issues, contact Andy Wilson, Ph.D., Director of Residence Life and Assistant Dean for Campus Life, wawilso@emory.edu.

For writing instruction please contact The College Writing Center 212 Callaway North, (404) 727-6451. Library Satellite: 2nd Floor Woodruff, behind circulation desk).

The Office of Disability Services (ODS) assists qualified students and faculty/staff in obtaining a variety of services (i.e., alternative testing, notetaking, interpreting, advocacy, mobility/transportation, etc.) and ensures that all matters of equal access, reasonable accommodation, and compliance are properly addressed. Qualified students and faculty/staff must register and request services — contact the Office of Disability Services at Emory University or Oxford College. Confidentiality is honored and maintained.

International students in need of academic support and other help can contact the International Student and Scholar Services Office.
